PROFILE

I am a motivated and diligent junior software developer with a strong foundation in both front-end and back-end technologies, recently completing an intensive Level 3 Master Software Development Skills Bootcamp at Code Nation.

I am looking for a role in software development that would help me gain experience in front-end, back-end or full-stack development.

My previous work experience includes a position at a retail establishment where I gained valuable skills in sales, inventory management, and general shop operations.
